

53rd Annual ECC Conference

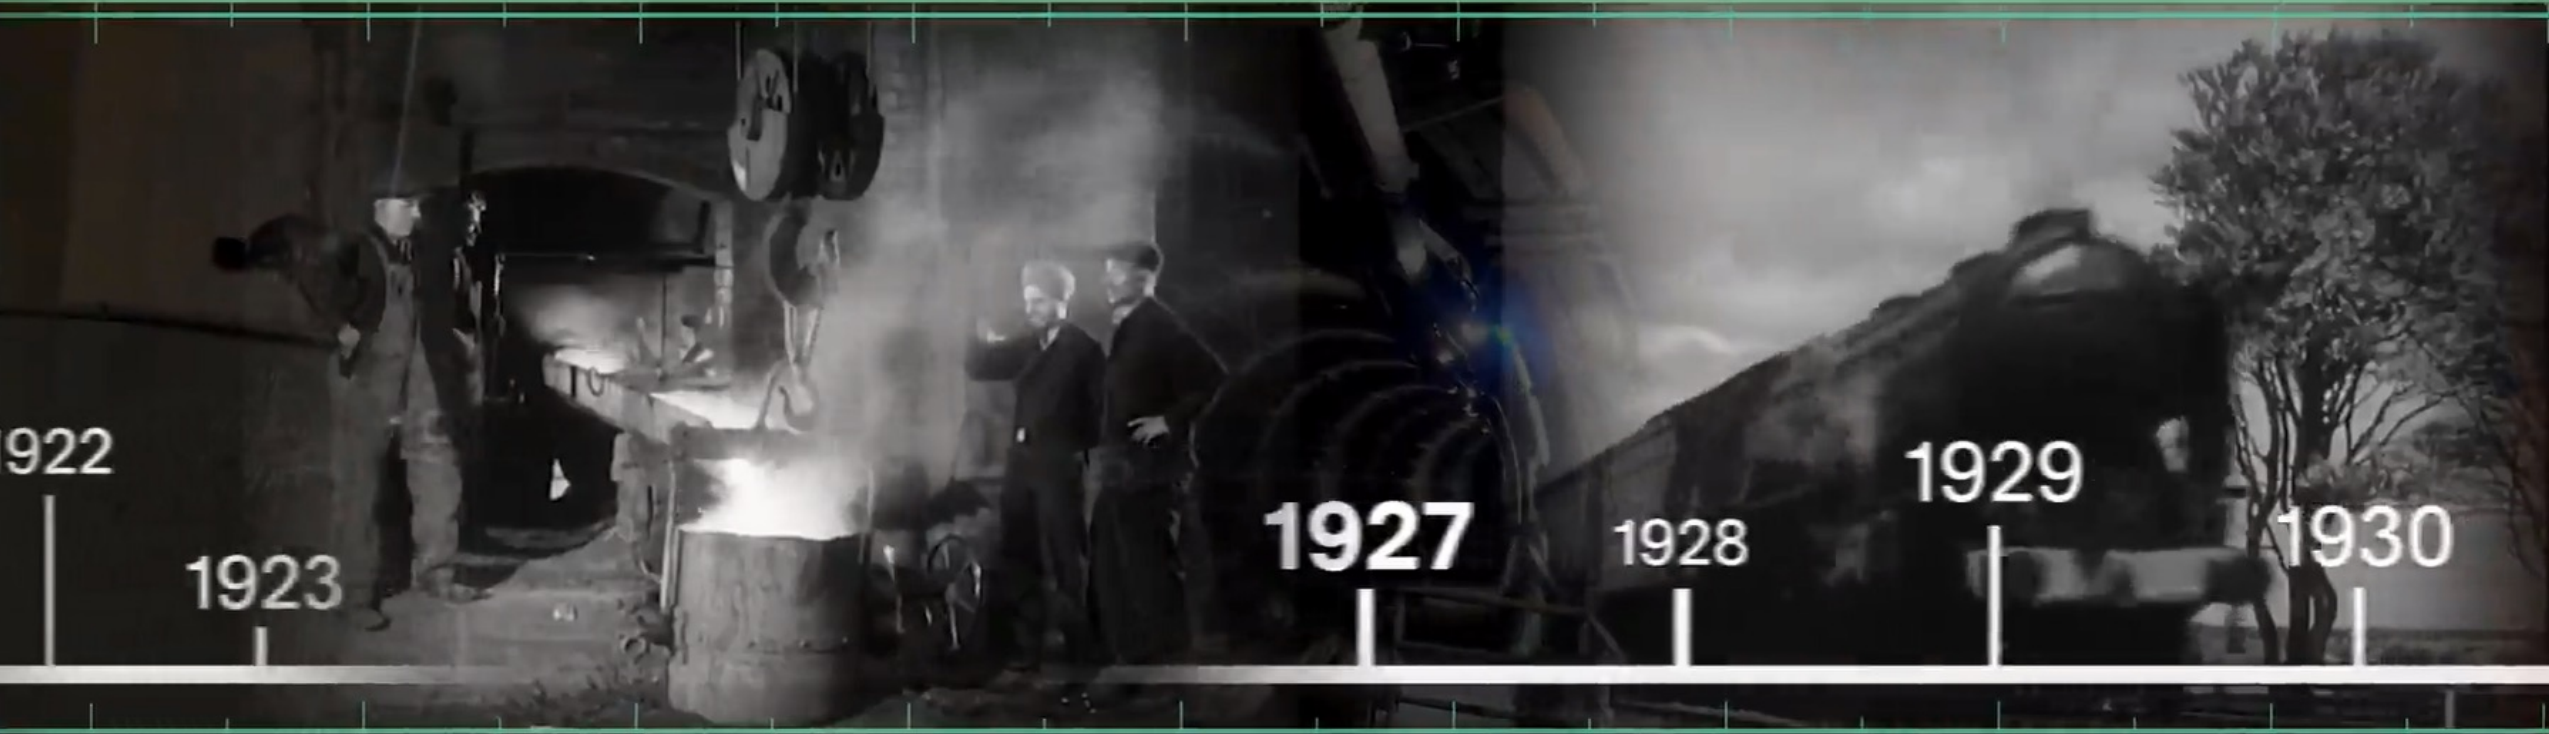

Performing While Transforming: Executing Now, Evolving for Tomorrow

Kymerly Butts,
Chair, ECC Executive Board
Zachry Group

1922

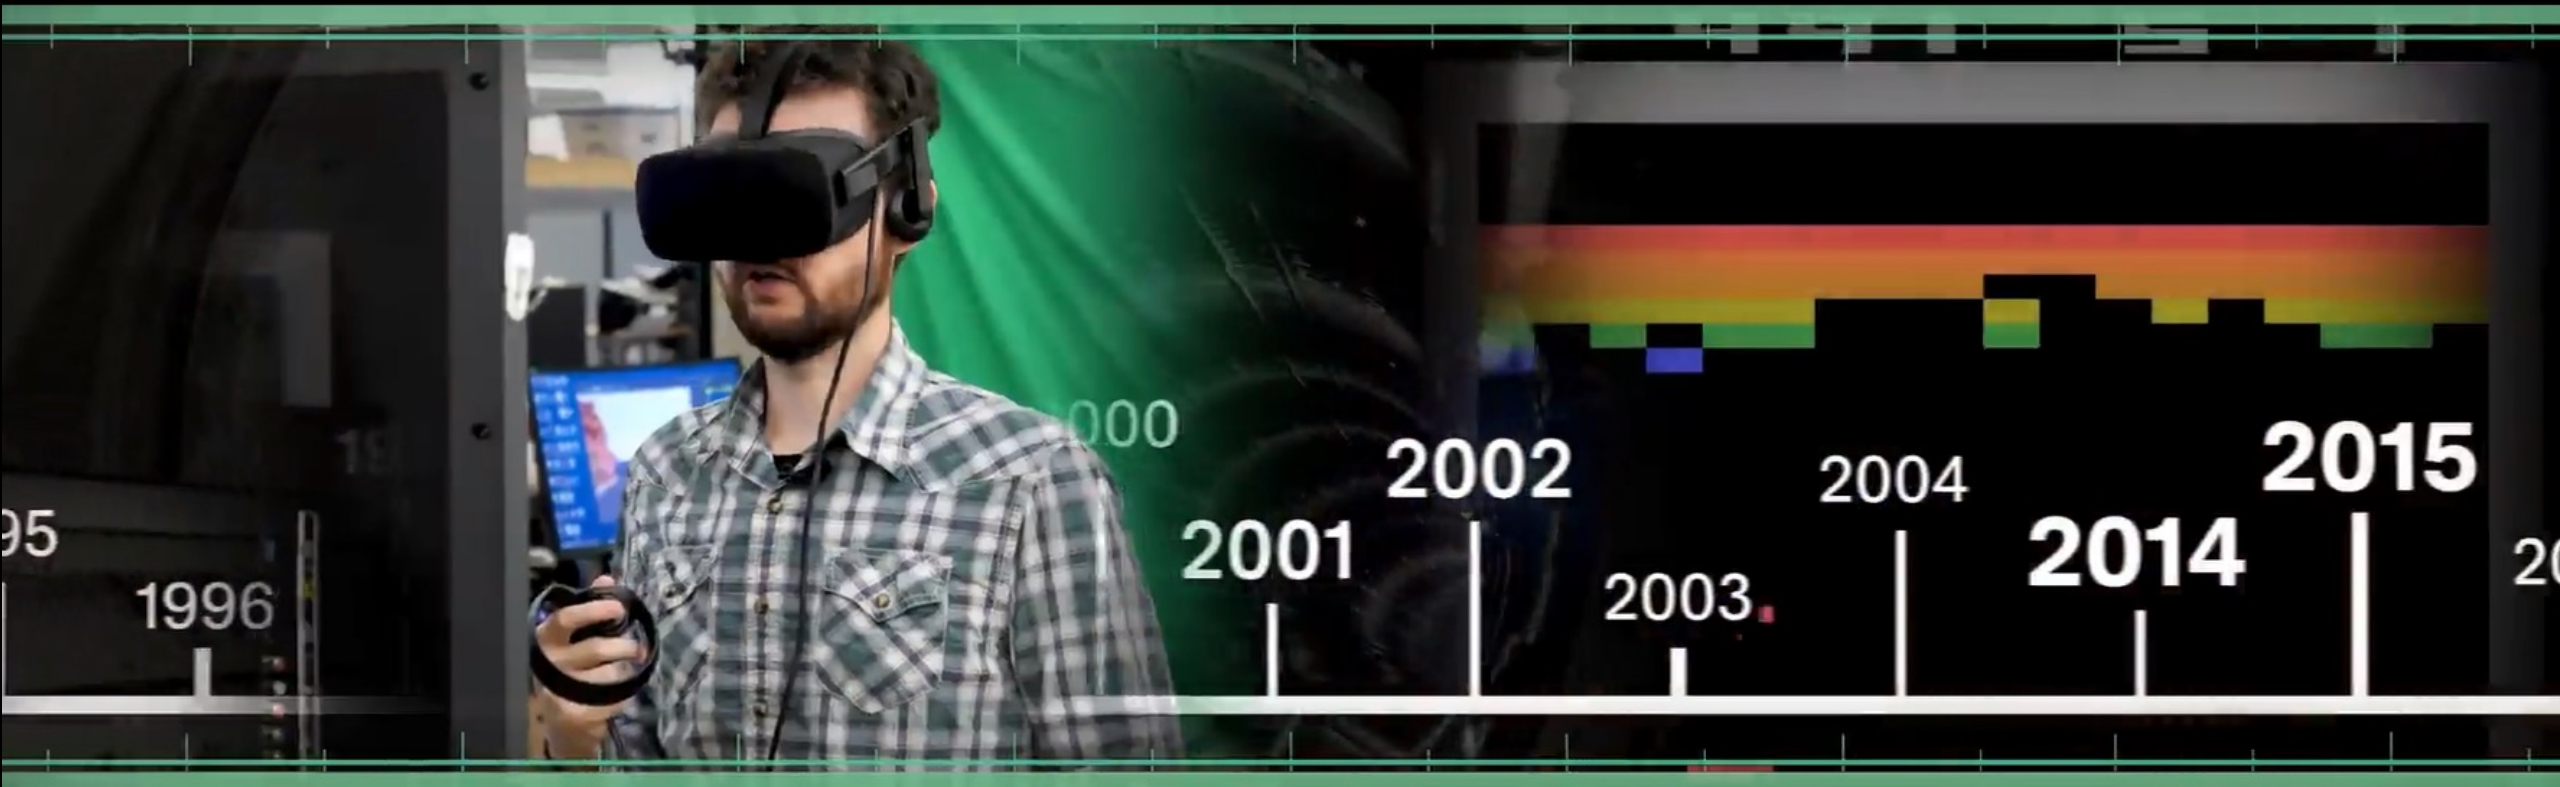

1923

1927

1928

1929

1930

Evolving for Tomorrow

Disruption is here.

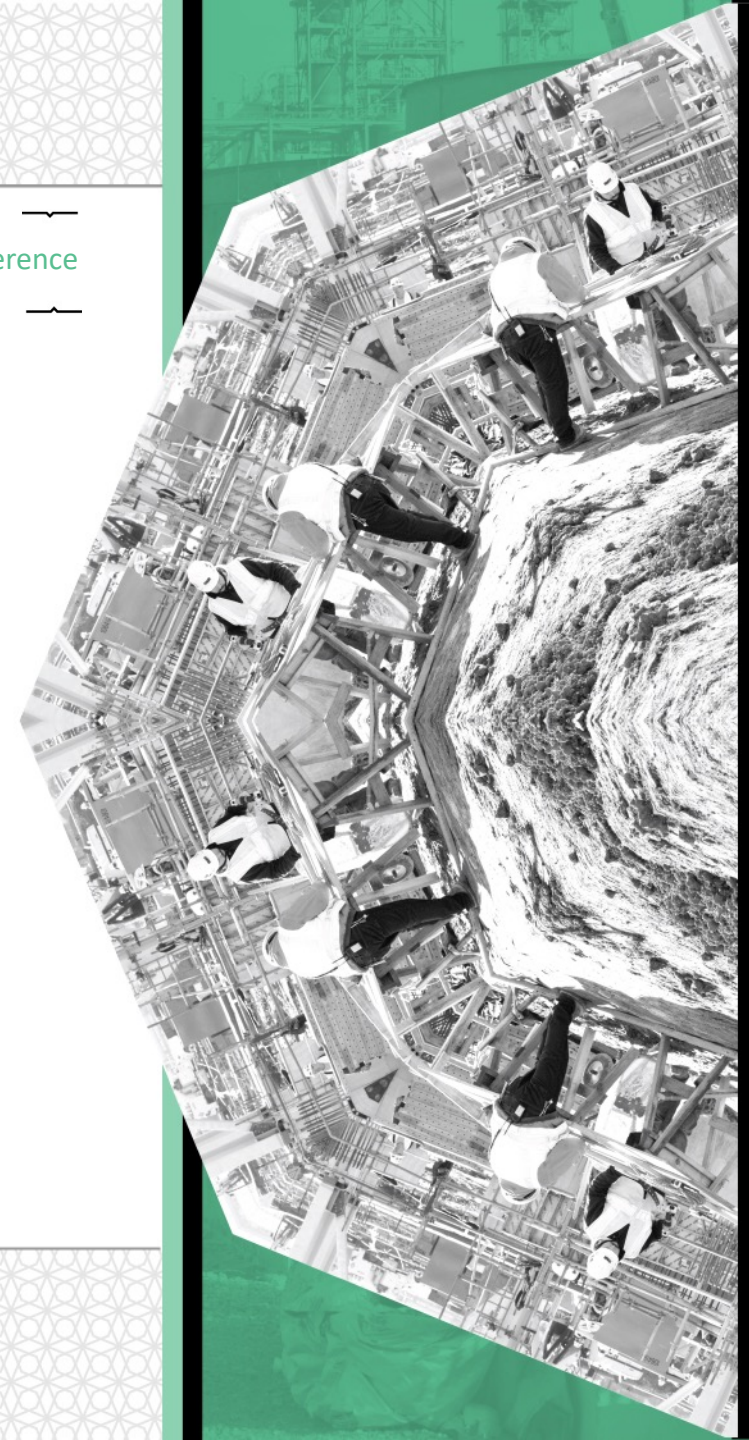

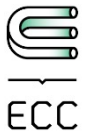

Performing While Transforming

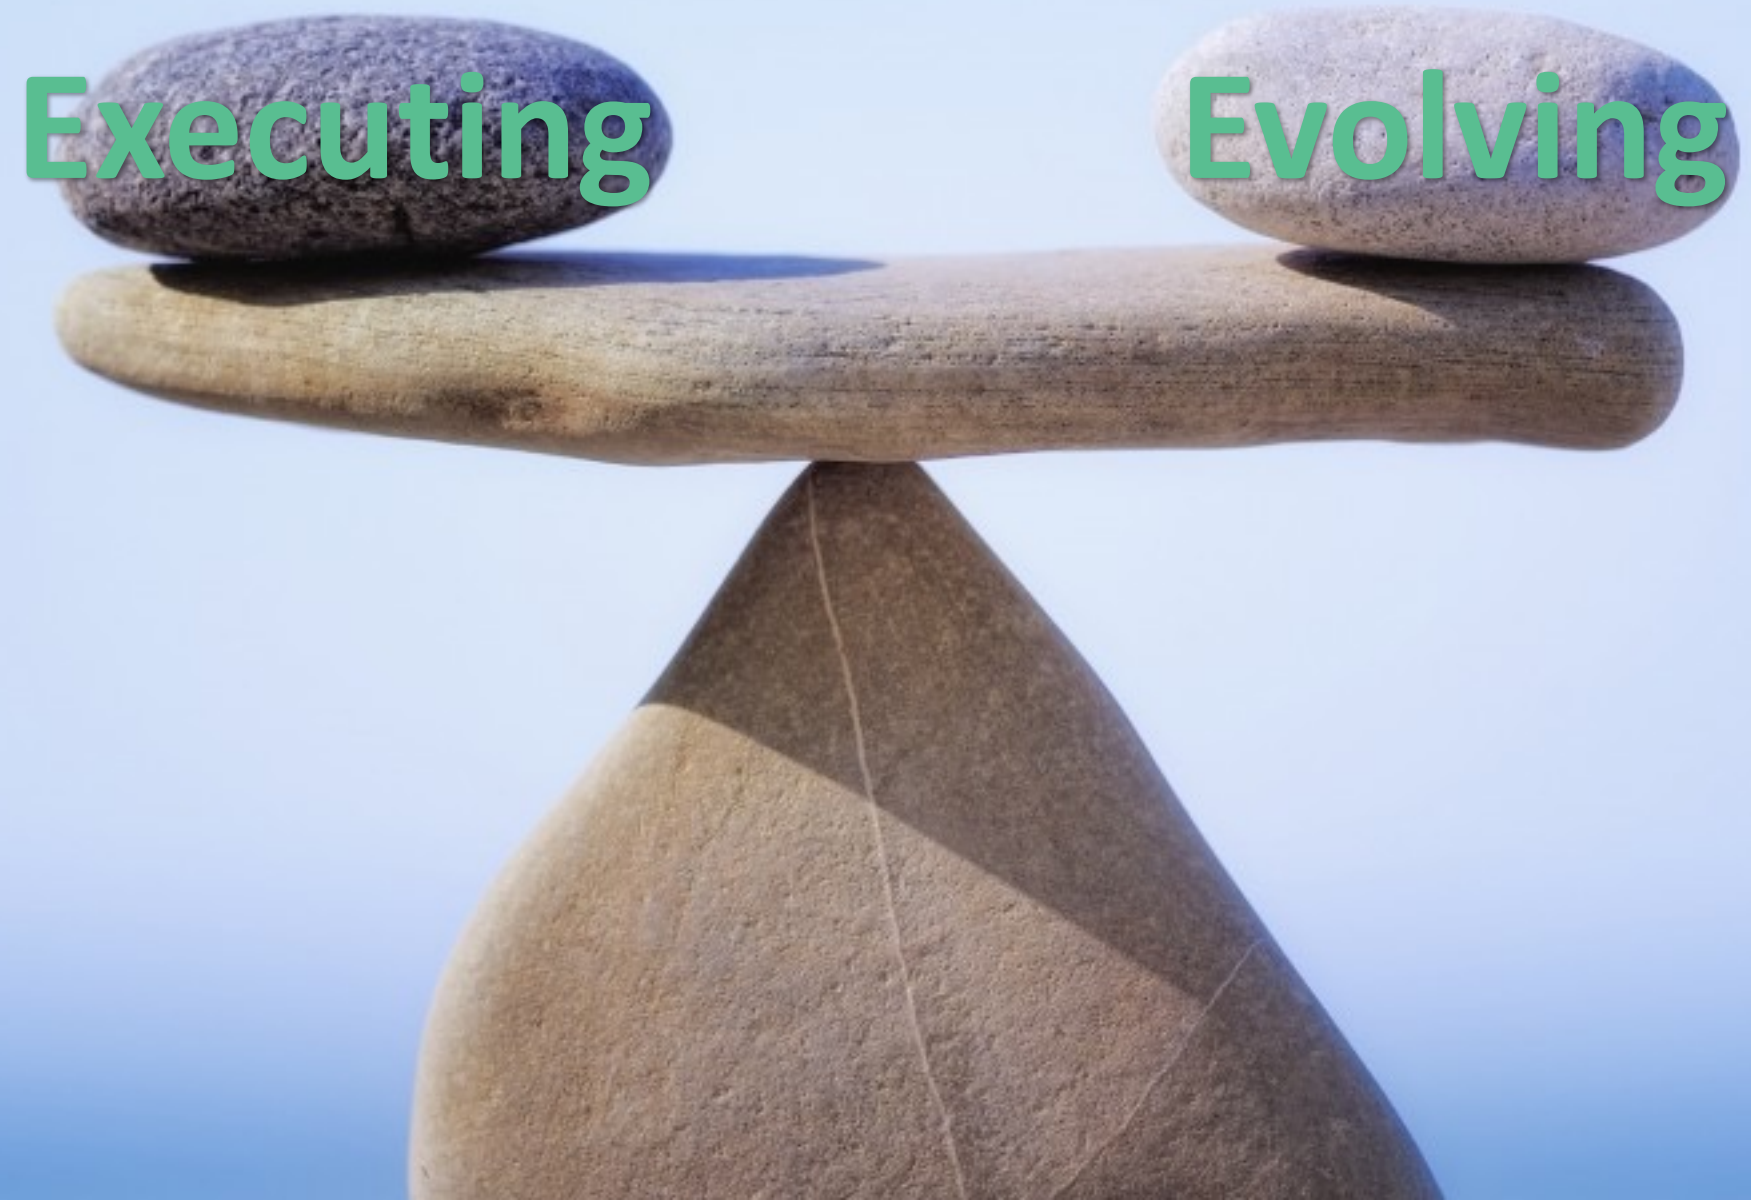

Executing Now

53rd Annual ECC Conference

Performing While Transforming: Executing Now, Evolving for Tomorrow

Kymerly Butts, Chair – ECC Executive Board
Zachry Group

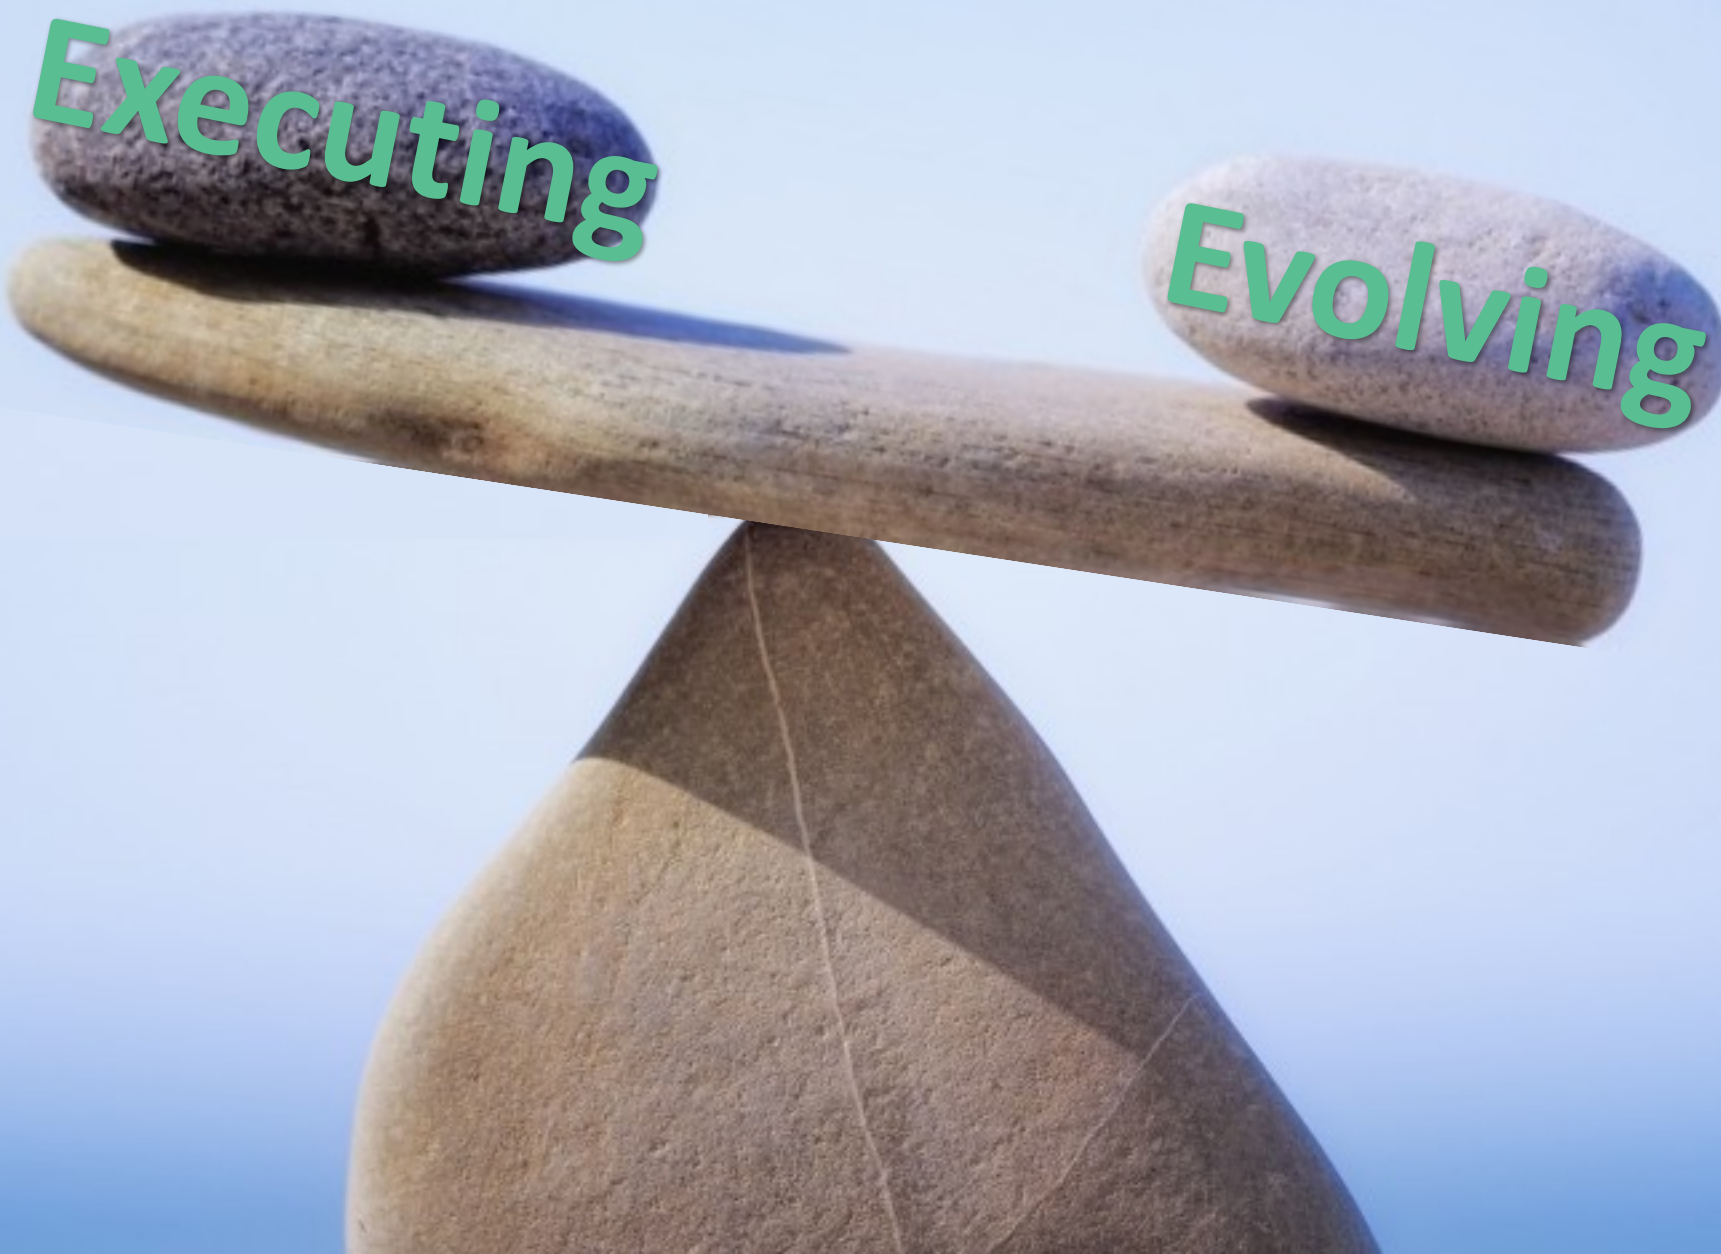

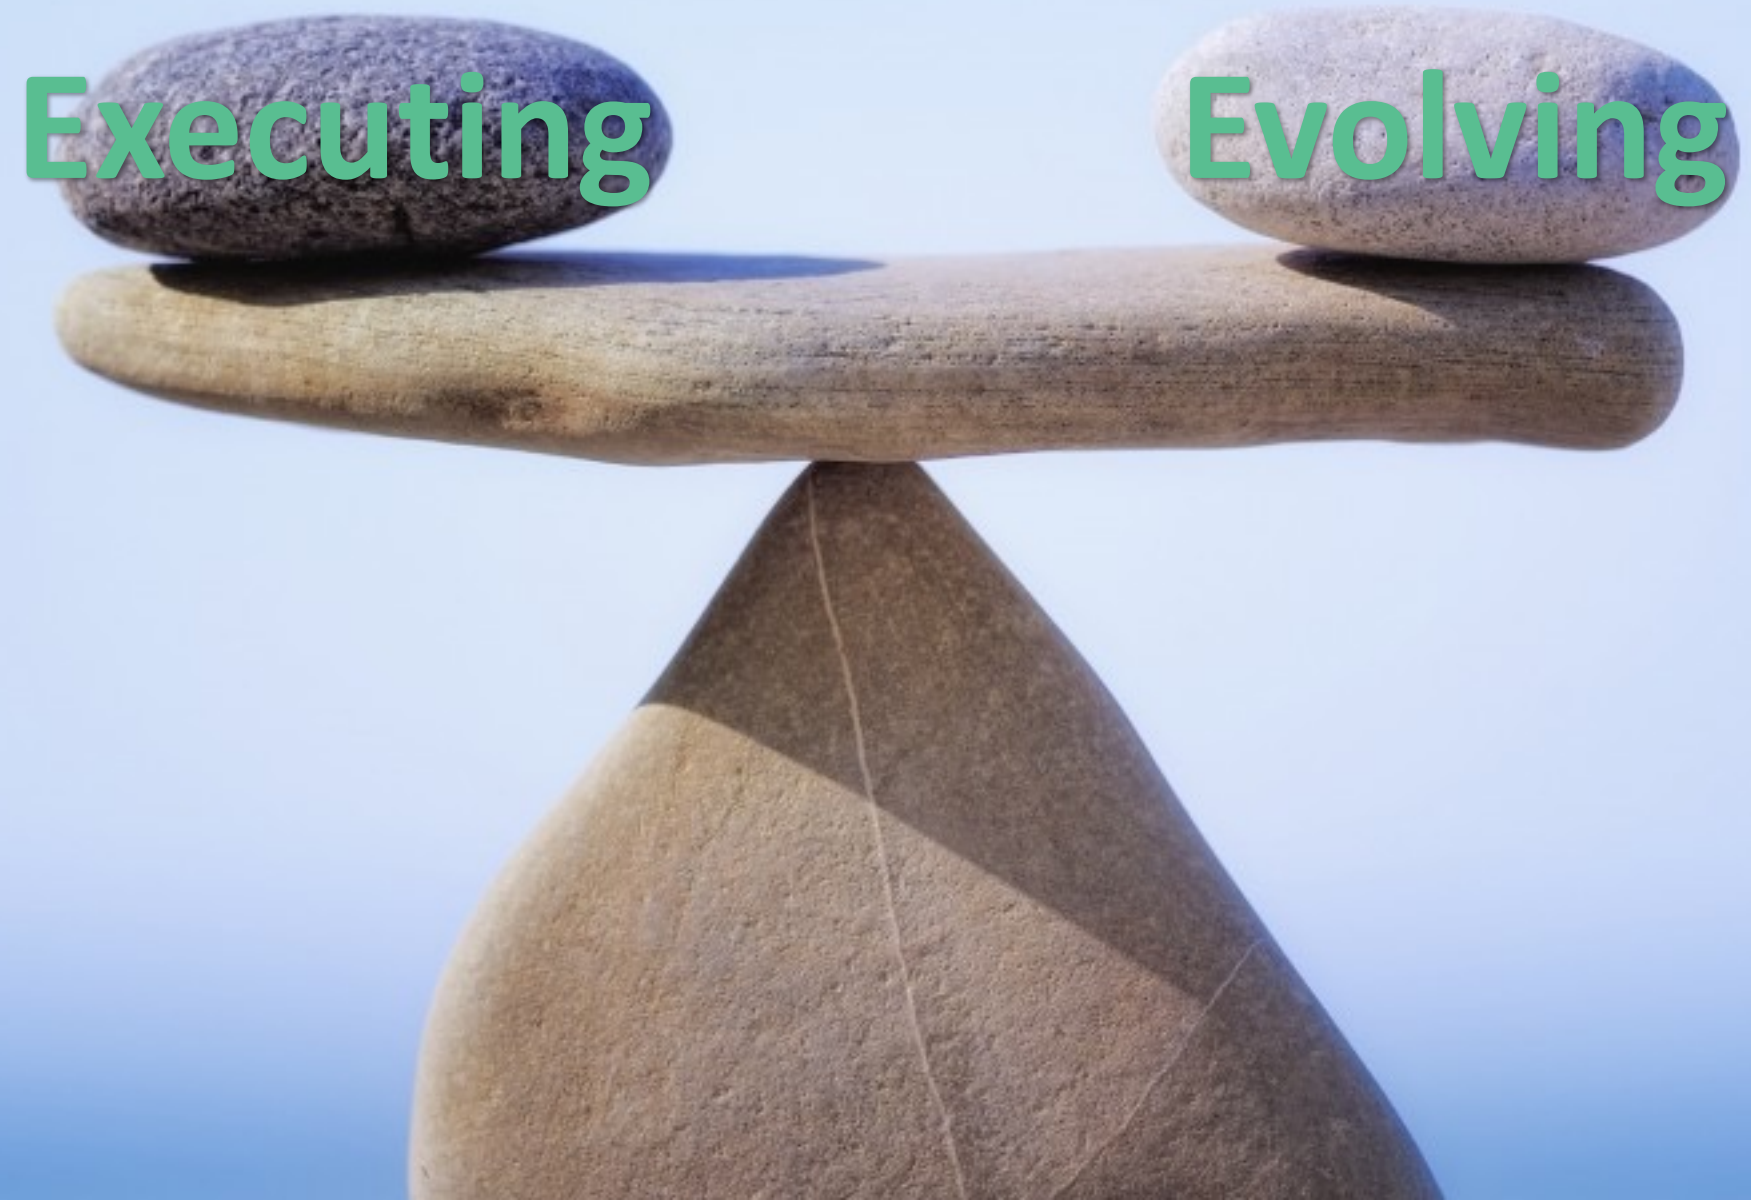

Executing

Evolving

Executing

Evolving

Executing

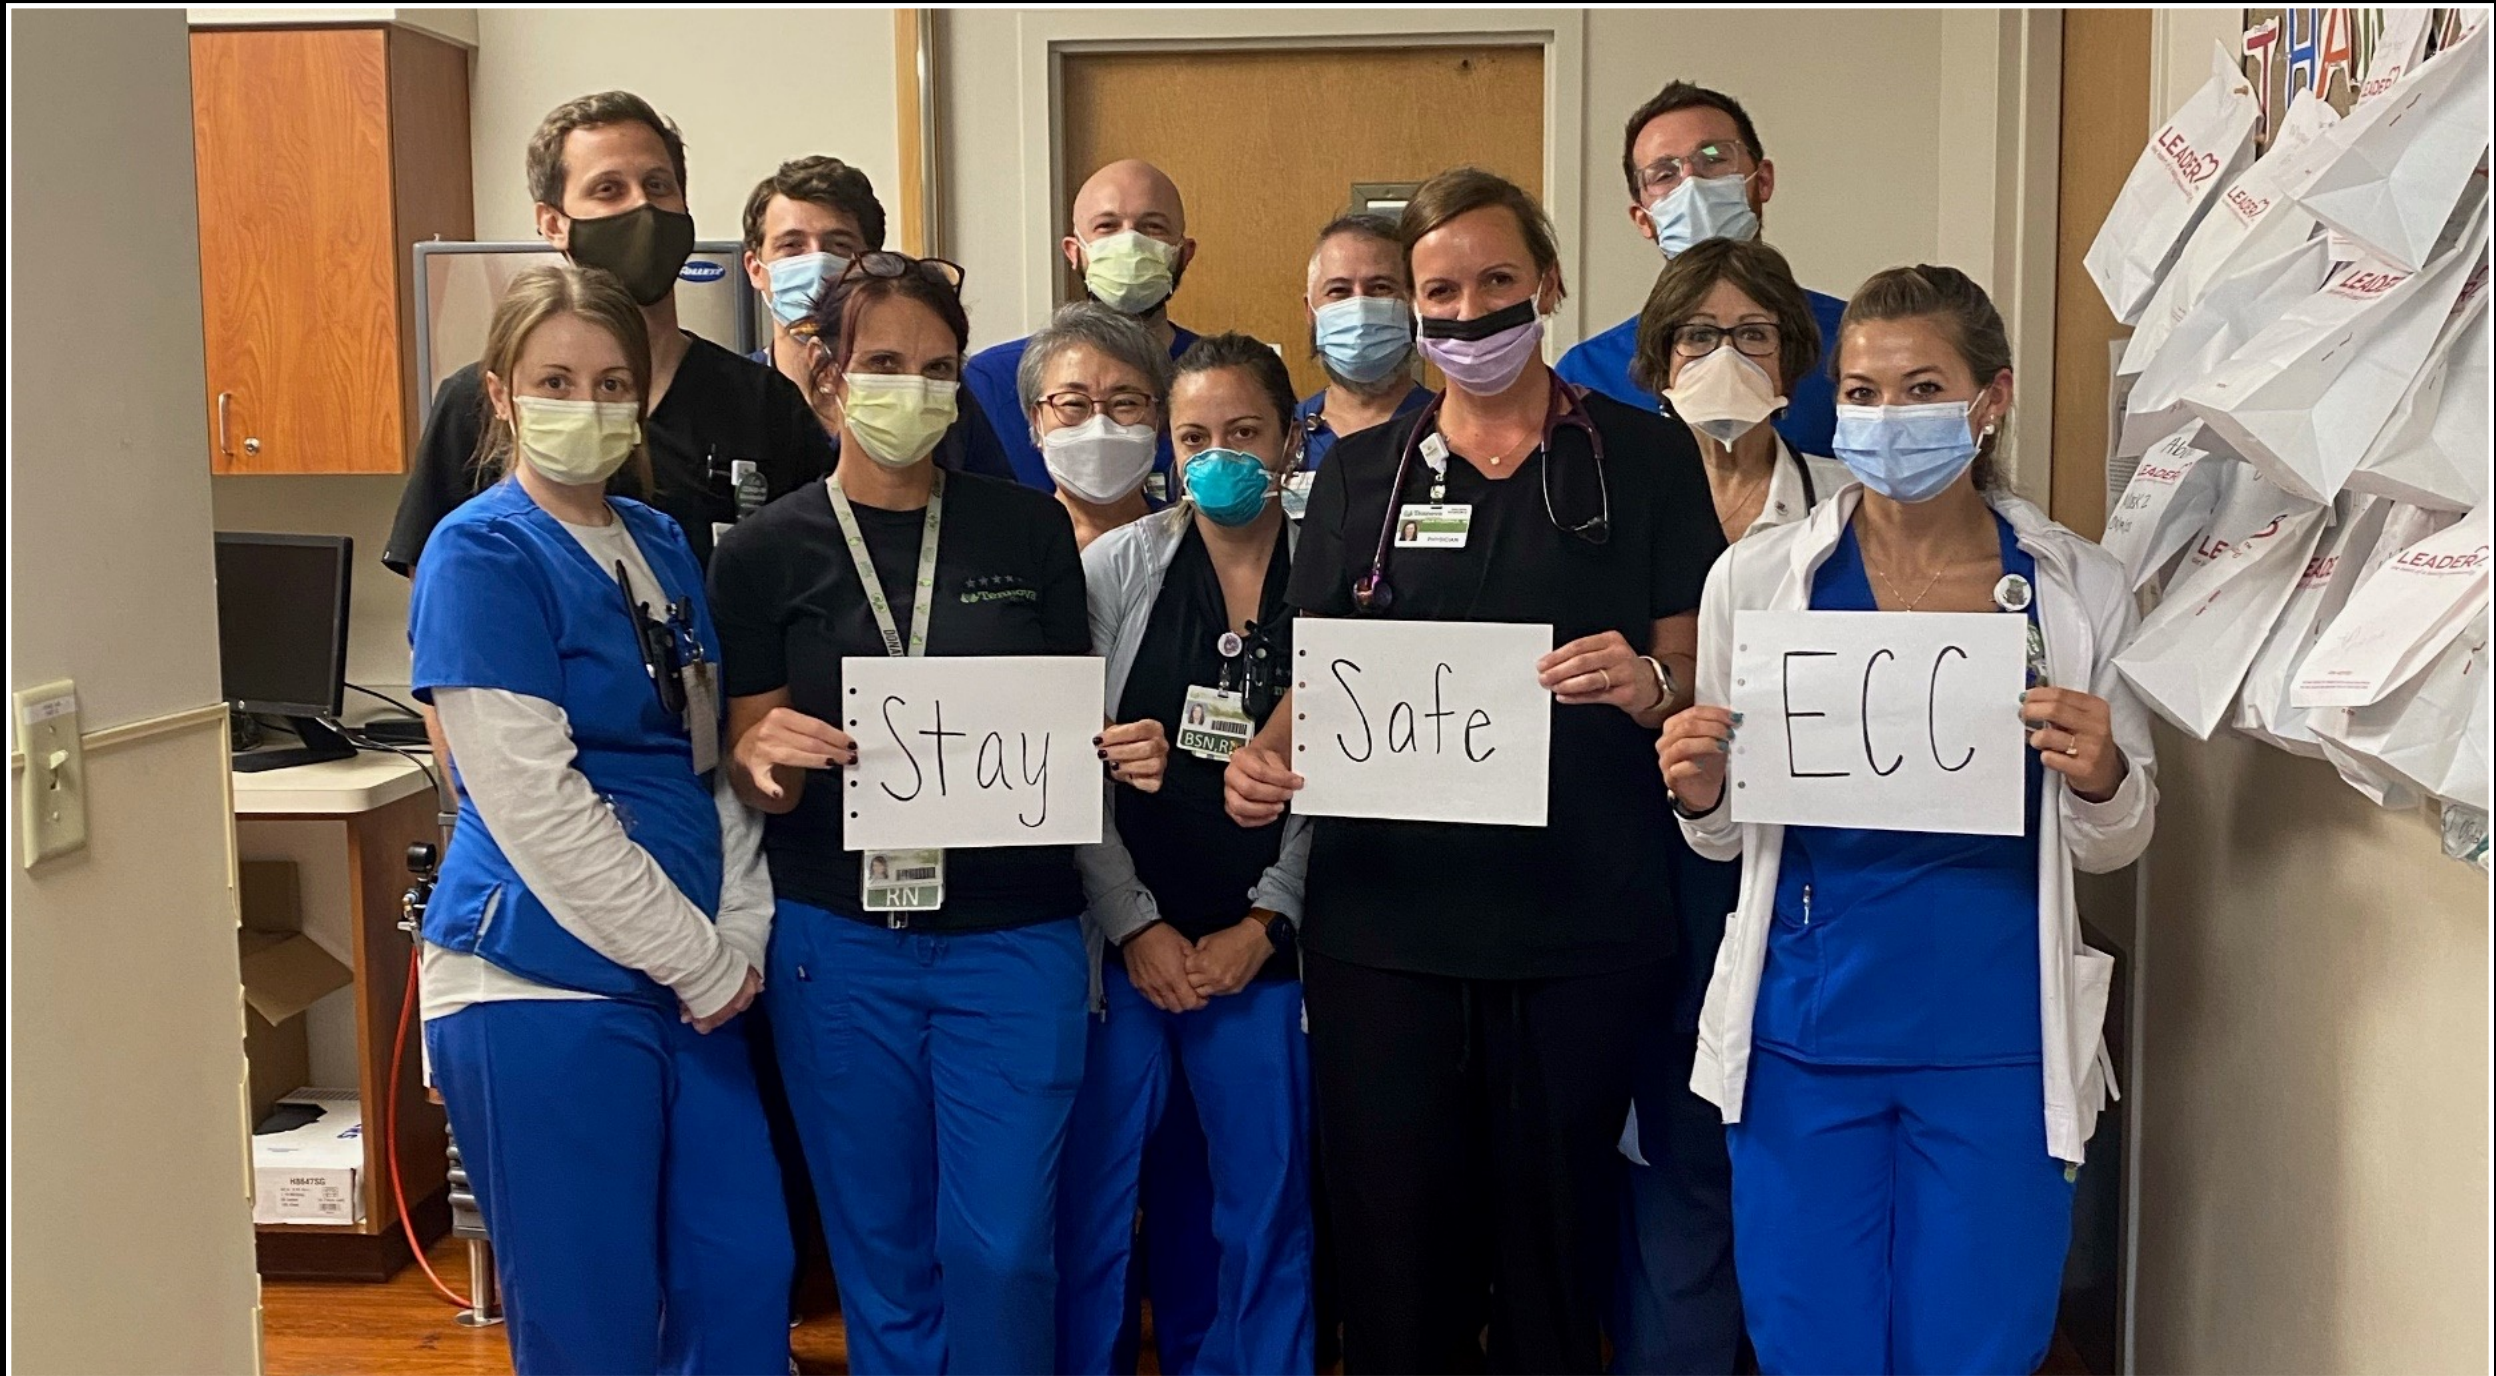

Evolving

A close-up, high-angle view of a muddy road. The road is dark brown and heavily rutted with deep, parallel grooves. These grooves are filled with a thick, brown, opaque liquid, likely mud or floodwater. The surface of the road is uneven, with small stones and clumps of dark soil visible between the ruts. The lighting is somewhat dim, emphasizing the wet, reflective surfaces of the puddles.

Traction??

Covid Forced Evolution

PerspECCtive

The 52nd Annual ECC Conference

2020 VIRTUAL EVENT / SEPT. 29 – OCT. 1

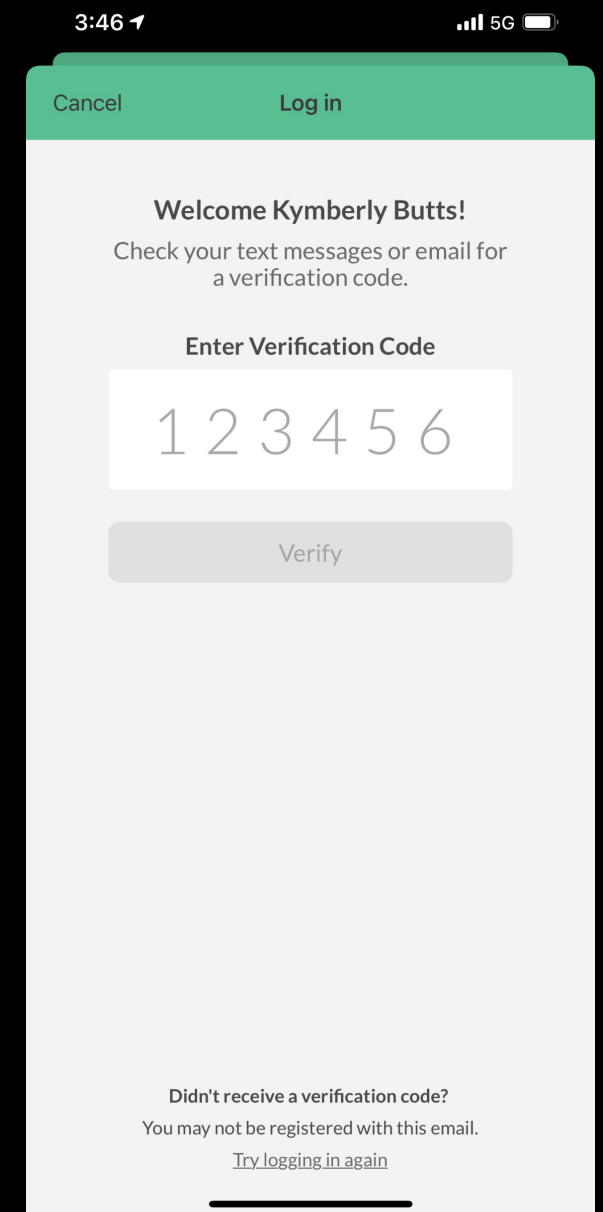

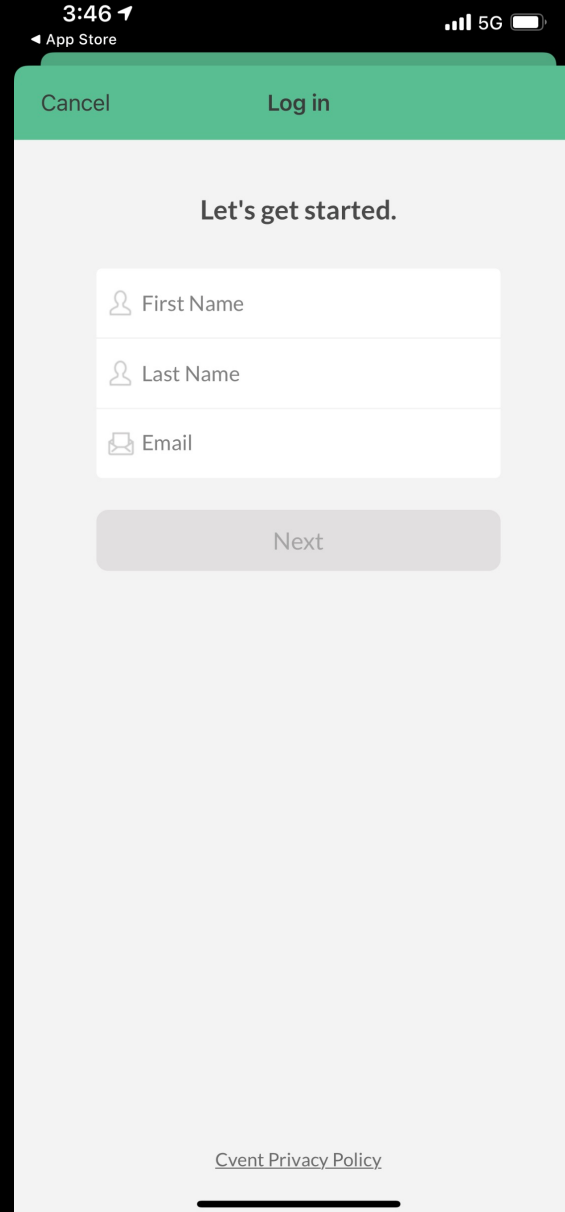

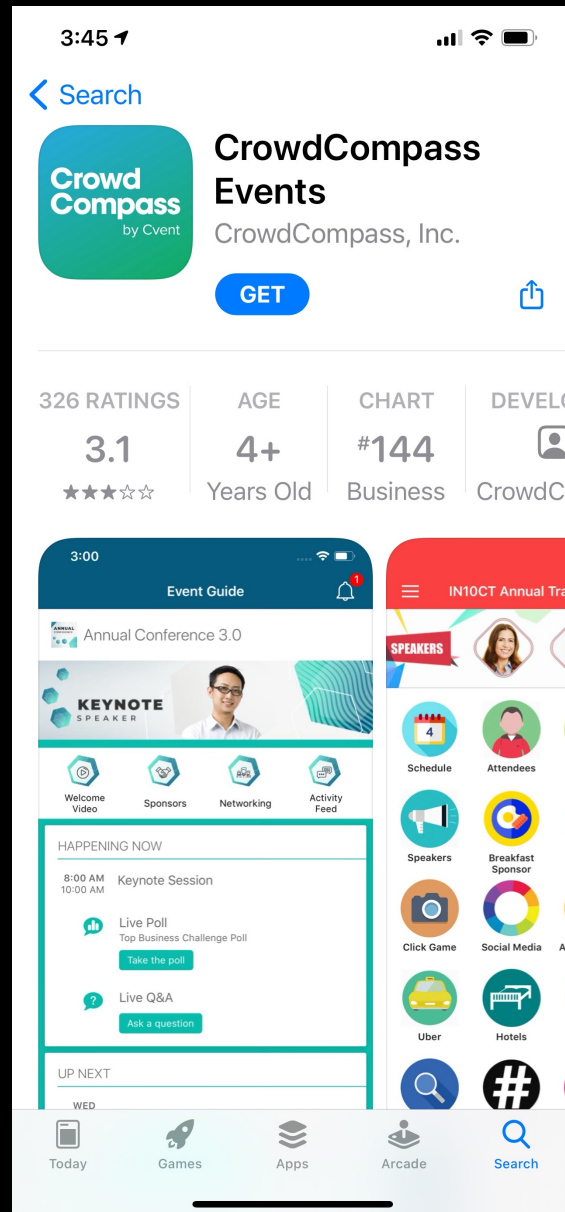

Recognizing ECC's Generous Sponsors

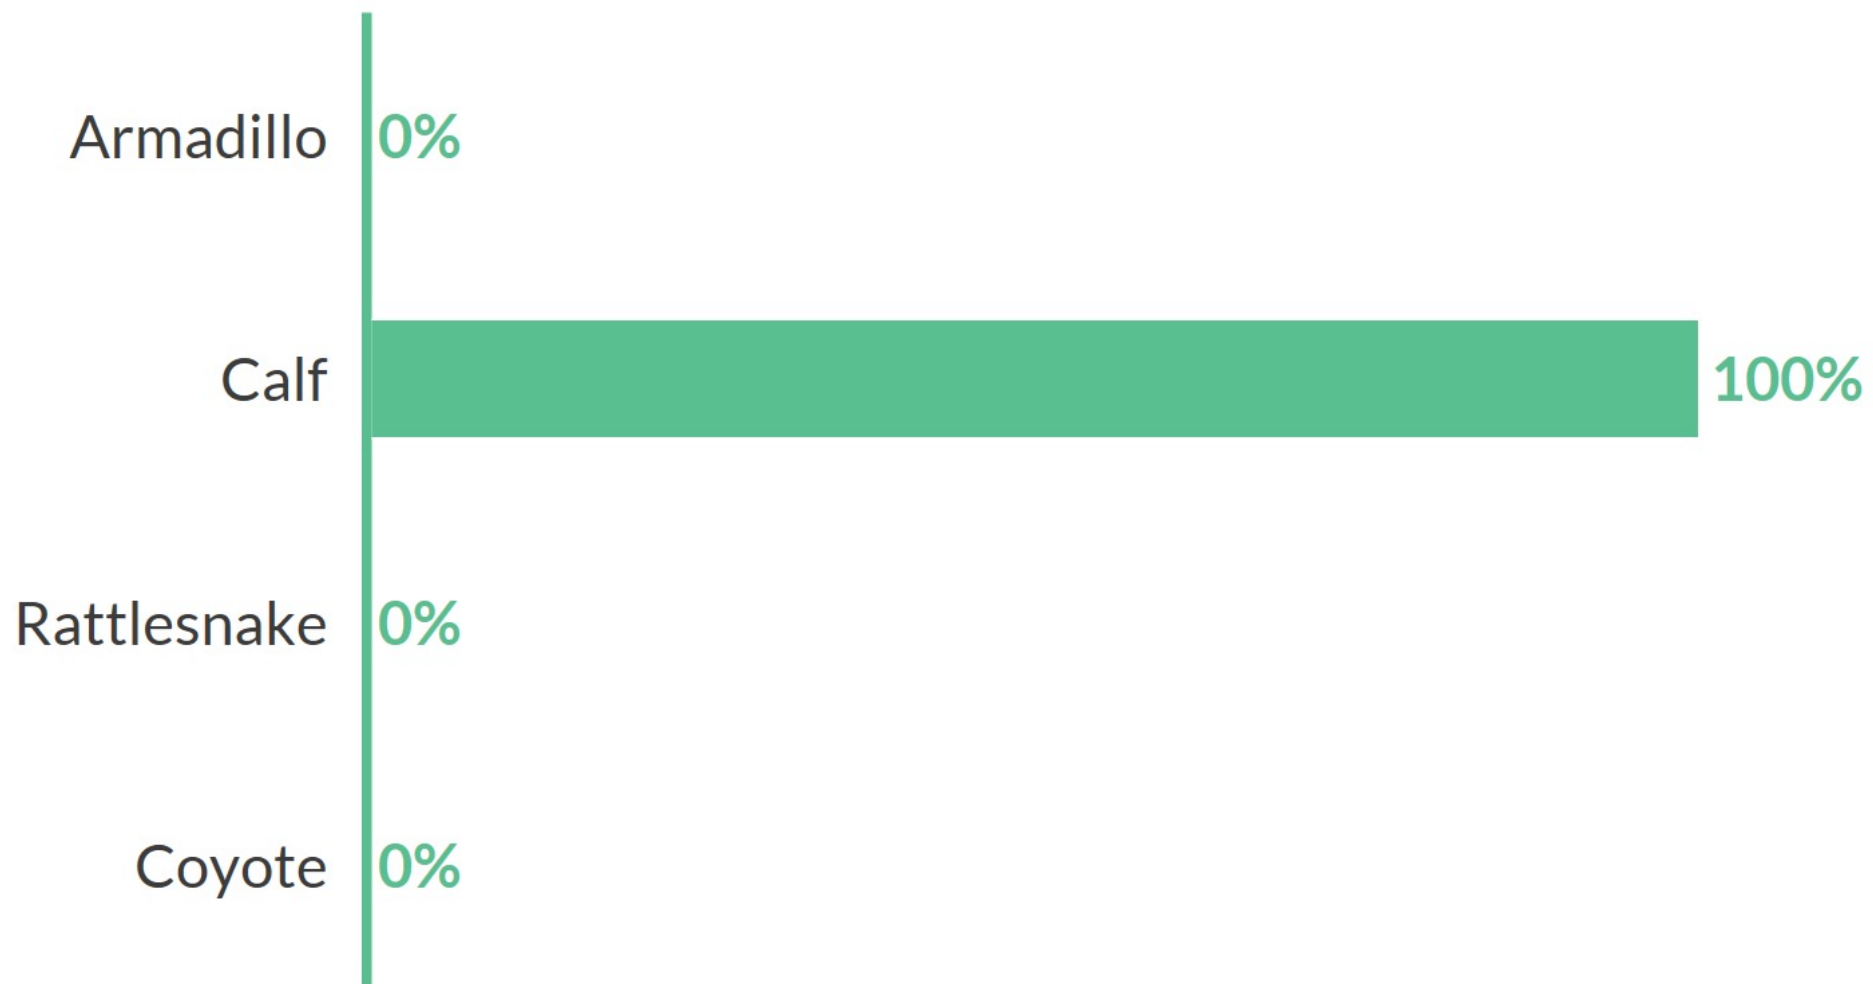

Recognizing ECC's Executive Board of Directors and Executive Advisory Committee

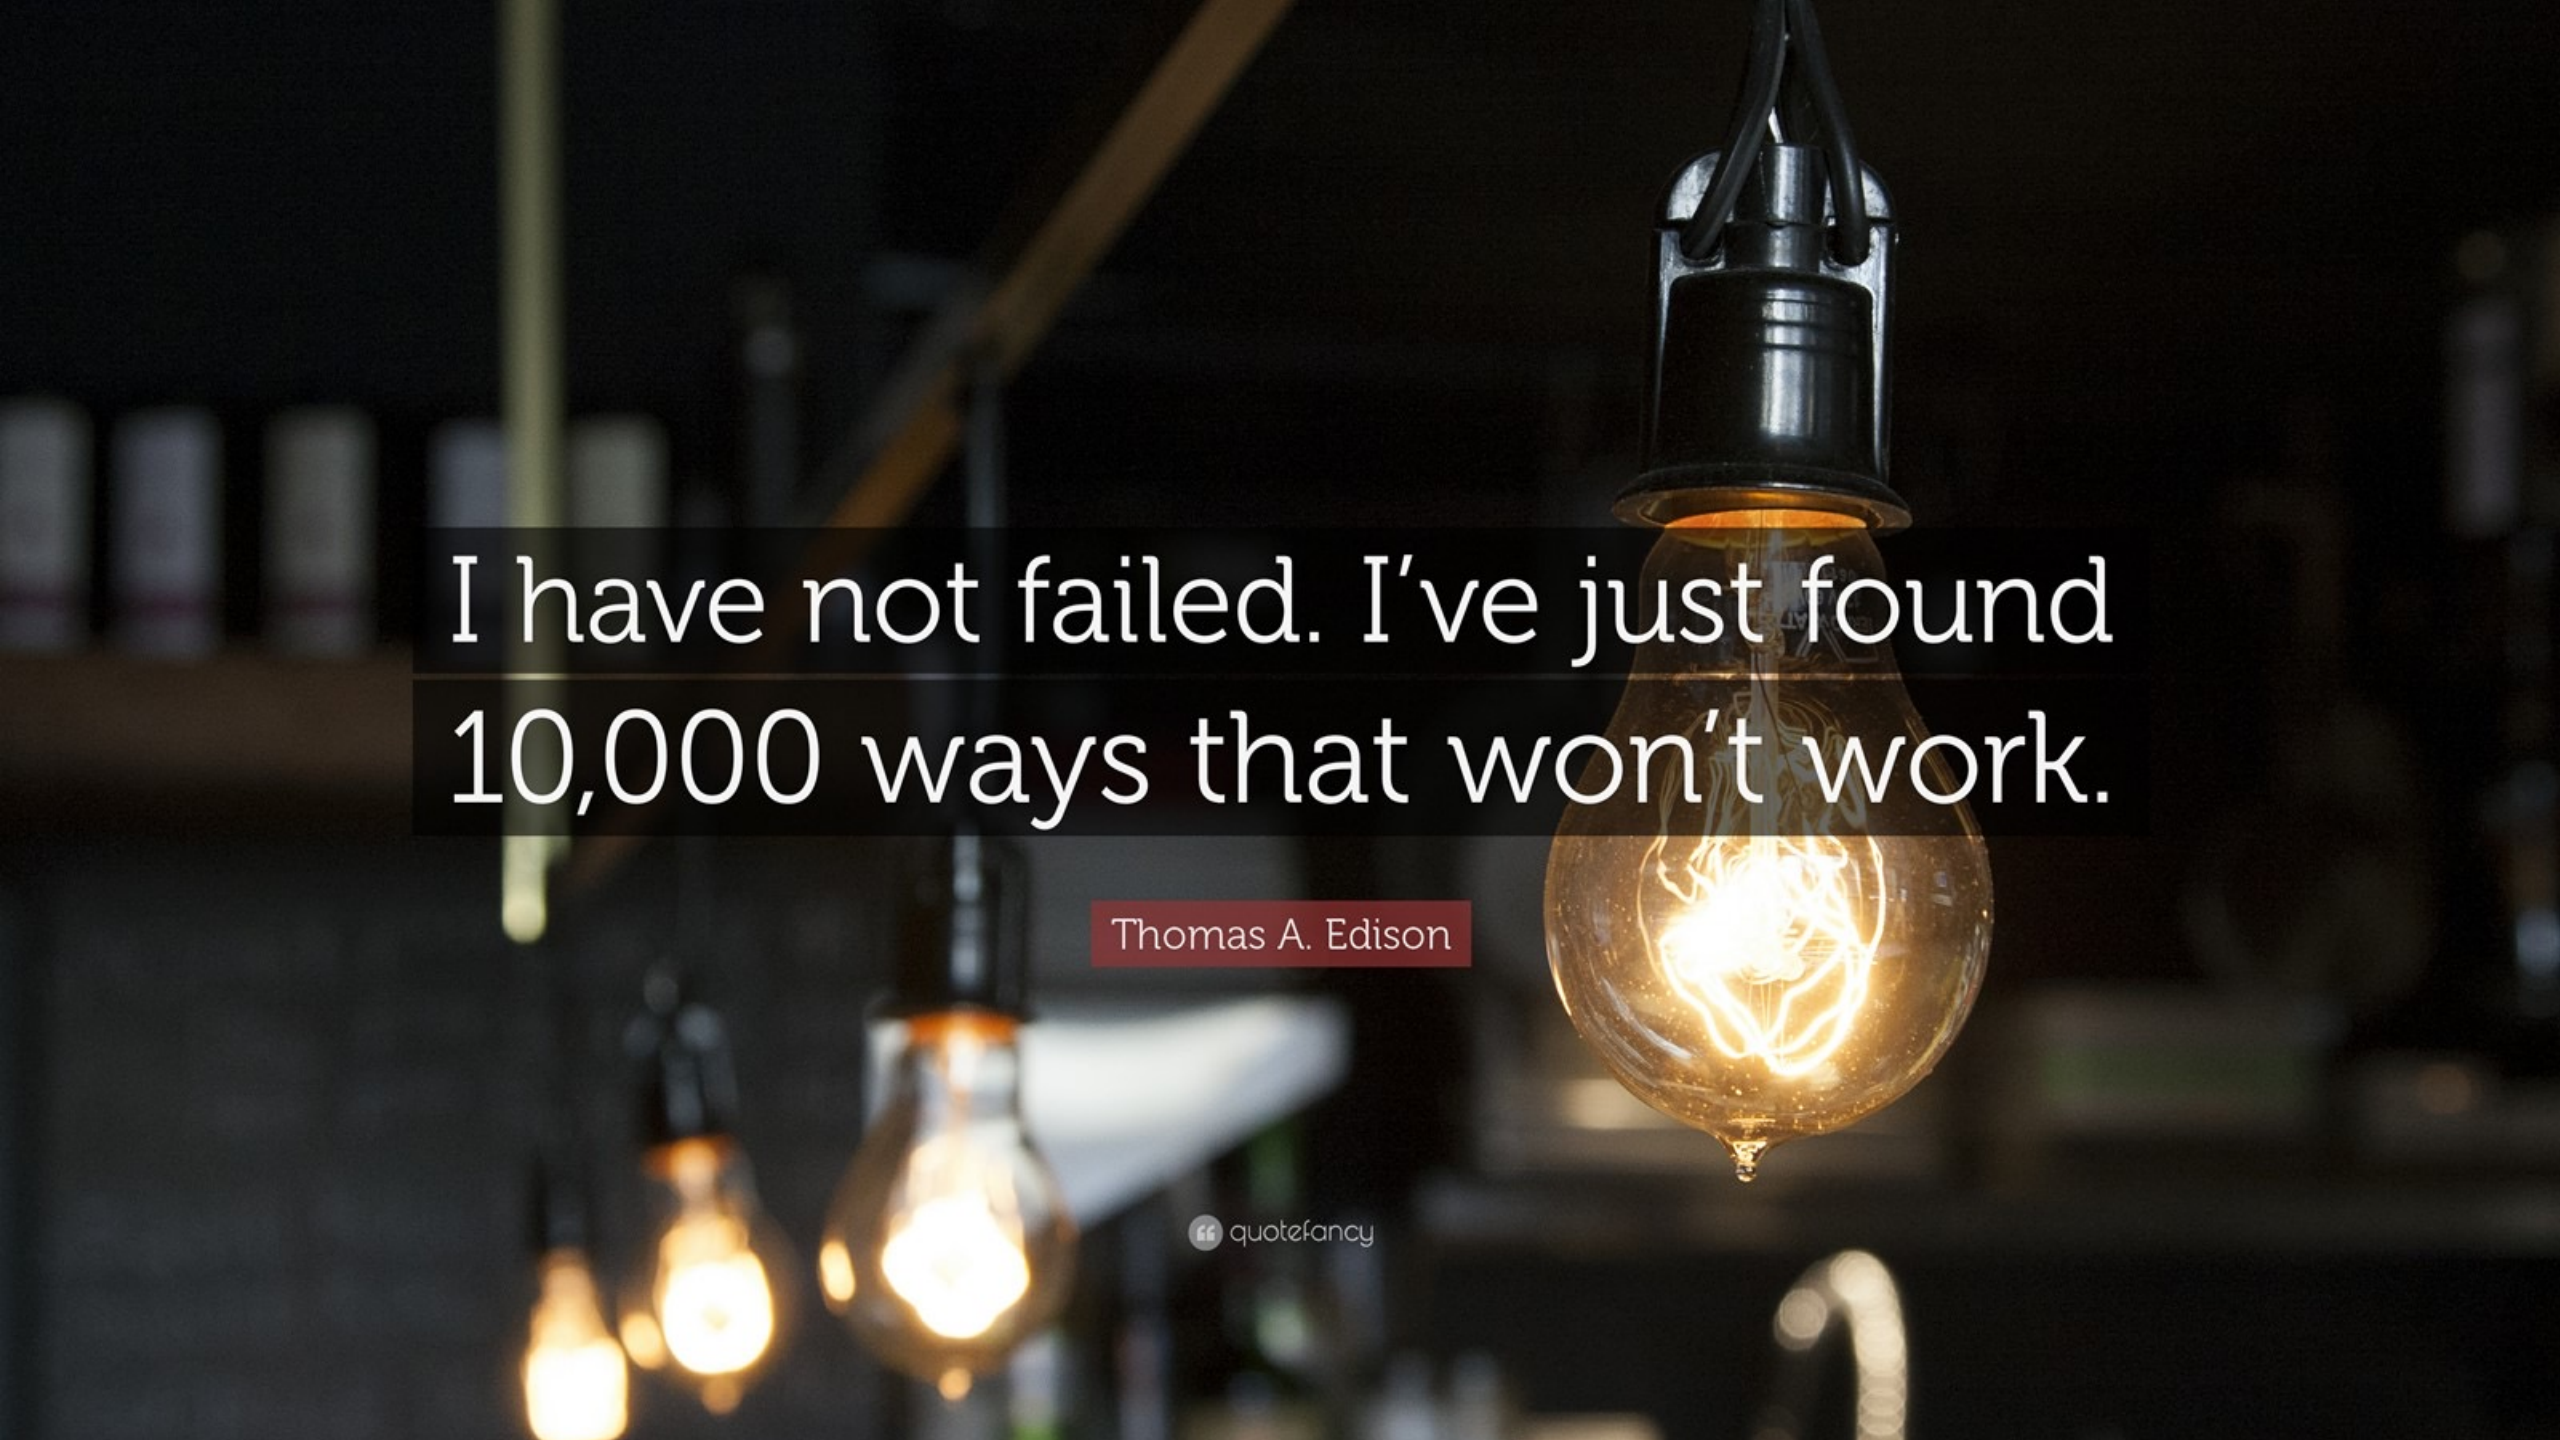

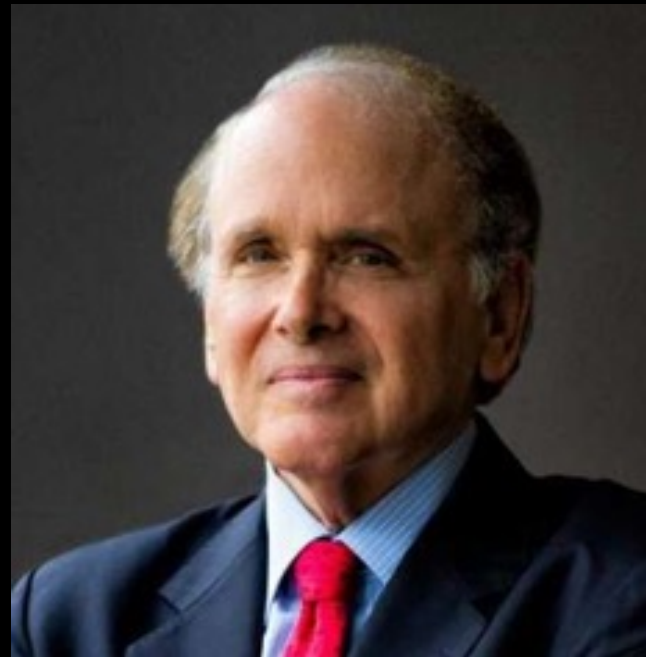

A photograph of a rocket launching from Earth, viewed from space. The rocket is on the left, moving upwards and to the right, leaving a large plume of white smoke and fire. The Earth's surface is visible below, showing clouds and land. The sky is a deep blue. A green grid is overlaid on the image, consisting of horizontal and vertical lines. The text "taking risks & pushing boundaries" is written in a green, sans-serif font across the center of the image.

taking risks &
pushing boundaries

I have not failed. I've just found 10,000 ways that won't work.

Thomas A. Edison

“In any field, leaders who move their organizations forward are the ones who can reimagine what they’ve always done, refresh and reinterpret the products and services they offer, and unleash bold experiments about what comes next.

Are you that kind of leader?”

Bill Taylor

53rd Annual ECC Conference

Safety & Security

Steve Cantrell
Security Supervisor
Gaylord Texan

